ish Of Suits On Last Day
For Filing Petitions
Yesterday.

Yesterday was the last day for filing suits for the February term of circuit court and there was a rush yet in delayed suits. Up to noon there had been 38 filed this week, most of them yesterday. Many are unimportant suits, but one is a damage suit of James Gee's administrator vs the city of Hopkinsville growing out of the drowning of James Gee in Little River on the night of March 9 1910, when decedent drove his buggy into the swollen stream at the foot of Second street. The petition alleges that he lost his life on one of the public streets of the city because of the dangerous condition of same, that it is the duty of the city to keep said street in a reasonably safe condition, that decedent lost his life because of the negligence of defendant in failing to keep said street in a reasonably safe condition and failing to keep said street sufficiently light so that he could see the dangerous condition and in failing to maintain a bridge over said branch so as to render it reasonably safe at all times. Damages are claimed to the extent of $15,000. Plaintiff is represented by Jno. C. Duffy and O. H. Anderson.

Other suits filed yesterday were: Andy Geiss vs. Mogul Wagon Co. for $2,500 damages.

J. E. Gosset, etc. vs. I. C. R. R. Co.

Mary E. Bryant vs. J. Guthrie Yant etc.

Alice J. Oliver vs. J. O. Jenkins etc. Jno. Alexander etc. vs. Continental Ins. Co.

YOUNG ORATORS IN COMPETITION

Seeking Honor of Representing The Orange
And Black.

AT PRINCETON FEB. 24.

Chas. P. Jarrett Wins in a Spirited Triangular Contest.

Chas. P. Jarrett, son of Mr. Chas. S. Jarrett, won the honor of representing Hopkinsville High School in the annual contest of the High School League of Western Kentucky at Princeton next Friday night.

There were three contestants for the honor, the contest being held at the Westminster Presbyterian church Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Lowe Johnson, Jr., presided over the meeting and made the opening speech and introduced the youthful orators.

Thomas Roberts, of Gracey, was the first speaker, his subject being "The Past, Present and Future of Kentucky." His oration was a most creditable effort and the speaker showed that he has in him the making of a fine orator.

He was followed by Will Cate, whose catchy subject, "Coming Into Her Own," at once commanded close attention. He dealt with the issues confronting the New South, interestingly and eloquently.

Chas. P. Jarrett, the last speaker, took for his subject, state wide prohibition, which he declared was "Our State's Paramount Issue." His speech was eloquent, logical and at times pathetic. It was delivered with an ease and grace that showed that Mr. Jarrett is not likely to encounter any superior orator in the League.

The judges were Senator Frank Rives, Dr. C. H. H. Branch and Prof. A. C. Kuykendall, who awarded the honor to Mr. Jarrett.

He was promptly congratulated by his competitors and in a brief speech promised to do all he could to win the championship next week.

The meeting was dismissed by Rev. M. L. Clements.

TOP PRICES OF THE SEASON

Tobacco Sells For $16 50 On A Crowded Market
Wednesday.

HOUSES ARE PACKED.

Unprecedented Rush to The Loose Floor Markets and Factories.

Another record price was paid for 600 pounds of fine leaf on the loose floor of R. E. & W. D. Cooper Wednesday. The tobacco was raised by A. B. Brown on Jas. Carroll's place near Vaughan's Chapel and it was bought by Nat F. Dortch for the W. S. Mathews Co. Mr. Brown sold the tobacco Saturday to Elgin & Wadlington, who sold it on the loose floor. It measured 26 inches in length and was the finest crop seen here this season.

The unprecedented rush to market has swamped all the factories and deliveries are now made under great difficulties. The big factories are packed to the ceilings with only narrow aisles left to get through the tobacco, which is being prized by hundreds of hands and stripped out as fast as possible.

The American Co., is alone prizing 350 hogheads a week and has already handled 2,000,000 pounds. The Imperial Co., The Mathews Co., Tandy & Fairleigh, R. C. West & Co., P. E. West & Co., and other dealers are doing a full capacity business and it is estimated that 200 hogheads a day are being prized in the city.

Much of the tobacco has been sold on contracts and the buyers are writing to their customers and begging them not to send any more for a week.

The congested condition of the market has affected the prices on the loose floor, as many of the dealers have no place to store any more tobacco until their factories are relieved of some of the stock on hand.

The golden stream from the horn of plenty is still deluging Hopkinsville with prosperity and the business interests are flourishing as never before.

The sales on the loose floors this week amounted to about 300,000 pounds, with a slight decline from the former high prices.

Adams was riding a bicycle and had just dismounted near the asylum grounds to avoid a mud puddle when the negroes seized him and went through his pockets. They took all his money amounting to nearly $18, and ran. He was not injured by the highwaymen. The robbery was reported to the Sheriff and Chief of Police, and a search is being made for the negroes.

The Court of Appeals sustained the award of damages to a Caldwell county man who claimed to be falsely arrested by a Sergeant of the Kentucky militia, during the night rider troubles. The decision set forth important points in the State law, including that relating to the power of the Governor to call out the troops without the consent of the city or county officials. The power of a militiaman, the decision points out, is no greater than that of any civil peace officer.

Lord Decies, accompanied by his bride, formerly Miss Vivien Gould, who have been spending a portion of the villa of Edwin Gould, uncle of the bride, returned to Brunswick,

over the Atlantic Coast Line railroad for New York. The couple will sail from there today for Egypt, where they will remain until the coronation of King George in London in the summer.

The McCall bill to carry out the provisions of the Canadian reciprocity agreement passed the house by a vote of 221 to 92. Among those who spoke at great length for the measure were Underwood, of Alabama, and Clark, of Missouri, while its chief opponents were Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, and Fordney, of Michigan. The debate continued into the night.

Their Morning
Talk

"Say, ain't it the limit the way us girls has to hurry in the morning?"
demanded Miss Martin, twisting in front of the rest room mirror, with her mouth full of hairpins. "I never get my puffs on to suit me before ma's hollerin' to know if I ain't goin' to eat nothin' before I have to run for the 7:27, an' I just have to fall down the stairs whether I got my clothes on or not."

"Aw, it's somethin' fierce!" agreed Stelle, the billing clerk. "I betcher if old Parkhurst had to hurry just once the way we do he wouldn't raise no holler every time we took a minute after eight o'clock to get ourselves lookin' decent."

"He gives me a pain," put in Mabel.
"That yawp of his ought to get him a job on the L. Fullerton next—change for Wrightwood, Diversey an' Wellington." Say, Martie, ain't you got a new tie?"

"Juh like it?"
"Sure! Red's awful becomin' to you; you ought to wear it all the time.
Juh buy it, or swipe it off'n that good-lookin' feller we seen you with on State street?"

Miss Martin bridled. "Say, what you talkin' about? I don't go round on State street with no fellers. I always travel in a taxi!"

"Oh, you swell thing! Girl in the Taxi—What? Say, girls, juh s'pose my green satin evenin' gown, cut daycolletay, will be swaggar enough to wear to Martie's weddin', or will I wear a rope of pearls? Anyway, I didn't swipe the red flag off'n anybody; I bought it myself at the Mammoth store about a month ago."

The door opened and into the already crowded room pushed Big Johnson.

"Yep! Late again. Cars blocked.
H'to, Martie; what's that about the danger-signal? You don't mean to say you've had a red tie for a month and never wore it once? You've had a strangle held on that mirror long enough. Let me have a look at it—a man on the platform jabbed his elbow into my face, and I guess likely I've got a dent that'll change the phenolo-gist's readin' and make me marry the dark man."

"All right, go ahead, if you're that stuck on your face," replied Miss Martin, unabashed, settling herself comfortably in the waste-basket, which, bottomless and sway-backed, bore mute testimony to its popularity in the chairless and couchless cubbyhole designated the rest-room.

"Say," went on Miss Martin, "it's no cinch to be part of a big family, specially when you're a stock size.
Every time I want to put on my clo'es I never can find 'em, but I don't bother to hunt around in the closet—I just run right out and look around at the rest of the folks, and sure's you're a foot high somebody'll have 'em on."

"S I was sayin', I bought this red tie a month ago, an' instead of wearin' it down next mornin' I left it on my bureau. When I came home, Harry was wearin' it. I didn't say nothin', for Harry's awful good about lettin'
me wear his ties, but next night I met Dick on Randolph, an' he had it on!
When he got home that night I raised a holler. I said if I wanted to buy things for other people I'd start a orphan asylum—the orphan's 'ud be more grateful, anyway—an' I'd thank everybody to leave my things alone, for I was sick of lookin' on other folks for my clo'es when I wanted to wear 'em myself."

"Oh, I raised a fierce fuss. Did it do any good? Say! Next time I wanted that tie, I found it hangin' on Harry's gas jet, an' him thinkin' he owned it. He was realinsulted when I took it this mornin'. Ain't that a brother for you?"

"That's not as bad as what my sister died to me," said Big Johnson, turning around with a chuckle. "You know that chemise with the Irish lace insertion Mabel gave me Christmas? Well, I looked all over for that the other night, and then I knew sis must have it on. I went downstairs. She was entertaining her beau in the parlor, an' the minute I came in, she knew what I wanted. I could see it right through her peekaboo."

"Did she budge? Well, not a thumbnail. She sat there and smiled at me, an' course I couldn't say what I wanted before him—he's awful shy.
An' I couldn't get her out of the room, either, or I'd have got it. I had to wear my old one to stay all night with Lily Hyde. Oh, I was boilin' mad at her."

"S-st!" Stelle put her head inside the door cautiously. "Parkhurst is lookin' for you, Johnson. Cut it out."
"Hurry—hurry!" sighed Miss Martin. Gee! I wish I could stick a pin in that old savage."

Success Won Early.

Decisive success often is won early in life by stage folk. Dion Boucicault was famous at nineteen as the author of "London Assurance," Nat Goodwin's renown as a mimic was widespread before he was twenty; Edward E. Rice had but turned his majority when he scored with "Evangeline;" Edna Wallace Hopper was in short skirts when she first became an idol of Broadway; George W. Lederer, at the height of his acclaim as a musical comedy producer at the New York Casino was but twenty-seven, and Richard Carle was a full-fledged comedy star at twenty-six.

AMUSEMENTS

SCENE FROM "THE THIEF"

Which Appears at Holland's Opera House, Feb. 21.

The leading woman with "The Thief," Edna Archer Crawford, owns a duck farm on Long Island. The actress calls it her "ranch" and each day receives from her foreman in charge a report as to the status of her property and "cattle."

She says: "Duck raising is a very interesting avocation. My last report records a total of 4,432 denizens of the pond. I never miss an opportunity to run down to Long Island when playing in New York or the vicinity personally to see how my feathered pets are behaving. The creek on which my ranch is located is full of sea-grass and this makes a salad especially palatable to a duck's taste."

"Long Island duck is famous the country over and is the first item to catch my eye whenever I scan a menu. It seems a shame to kill them for they look so beautiful as they swim around in flocks of fifty or a hundred, each trying to outdo the other with their harsh quacks. Have you ever tried to sleep in the vicinity of a duck ranch? Try it, but don't criticize me for the suggestion."

"The Thief" is scheduled for an engagement at Holland's Opera House Feb. 21.

We're Opposed to Mail Order Concerns Because—

They have never contributed a cent to furthering the interests of our town—

Every cent received by them from this community is a direct loss to our merchants—

In almost every case their prices can be met right here, without delay in receiving goods and the possibility of mistakes in filling orders.

But—

The natural human trait is to buy where goods are cheapest. Local pride is usually secondary in the game of life as played today.

Therefore

Mr. Merchant and Business Man, meet your competitors with their own weapons—advertising.

Advertise!

The local field is yours. All you need do is to avail yourself of the opportunities offered. An advertisement in this paper will carry your message into hundreds of homes in this community. It is the surest medium of killing your greatest competitor. A space this size won't cost much. Come in and see us about it.

Ollie in the Chair.

Realizing that the Canadian Reciprocity measure had won through Democratic support, and in order that the fact should be emphasized, Speaker Cannon called Representative Ollie James, of Kentucky, to the chair and for the first time in seventeen years a Democrat presided over the deliberations of the House of Representatives.

The Speaker recognized in Mr. James the most aggressive type of Democrat in the House.

When "Speaker" James grasped the gavel he was wildly cheered by the Democrats and the packed galleries of the House and, regardless of his ingenious efforts to restore order, it was nearly five minutes before the clerk was able to resume the rollcall. When the call had been concluded Mr. James announced the result amid a storm of applause and relinquished his seat to the defeated Republican leader.

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her."

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."

DECREASE SHOWN

Falling off in Daviess County's Assessment.

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 15.—The figures of the tax assessment of Daviess county show an unaccountable falling off in several items. Last year there were 7,050 children of school age returned and this year the number is only 2,051, a falling off of 4,999. Six thousand acres less land is returned and the tobacco production apparently fell off from 8,000,000 pounds to 2,000,000 pounds. On the basis of the assessment the county will lose approximately $20,000 from the public school fund for the ensuing year.

Skovgaard Feb. 22.

Skovgaard, the Danish violinist, is one of the most accomplished musicians of the age and he carries with him an able pianist and accompanist and an excellent singer. Concerning Skovgaard, an exchange says in part: "His technique is fluent and reliable, his passage work clear and telling and his tone marvelously sweet and soulful."

Doctor Praises D. D. D.

Although an M. D., I acknowledge to my patients and patrons that your remedy, D. D. D., reaches cases of Eczema and permanently cures them.—Dr. Ira T. Gabbert, Caldwell, Kan.

"My cure began from the first application of D. D. D. My skin is now as smooth as a baby's. I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for what D. D. D. has done for me," writes August Santo, of Chillicothe, Ohio.

These are just samples of letters we are receiving every day from grateful patients all over the country.

"Worth its weight in gold," "All my pimples washed away by D. D. D." "I found instant relief," "D. D. D. is little short of miraculous." These are the words of others in describing the great skin remedy, D. D. D.

Proven by thousands of cures, for ten years to be absolutely harmless and reliable in every case of skin trouble, no matter what it is.

AT VIRGINIA SCHOOL

A Book Social Was Given Thursday Evening.

Thursday night was a beautiful and significant occasion at the Virginia Street School. It was called a Library Social. Six boys debated the question whether Agriculture or Manufactures are the more important. The boys were from twelve to fourteen years of age. Their speeches were very creditable and elicited rounds of enthusiastic applause. The school gave choruses of high grade, which also delighted the audience. Some of the smaller children gave readings which had been cleverly composed with a view to interesting visitors in the increase of the library of the school. These charming tales won the most affectionate favor of their hearers and no doubt the gifts of books and money with which to buy books were more generous for their help.

Mrs. Chas. M. Meacham made a happy and helpful statement of the purposes of the School Improvement League under whose auspices the entertainment was given.

Rev. H. D. Smith spoke on the need of the school for books and asked for offerings for books and money for the library.

The great assembly hall of the school was crowded to overflowing with a beamingly happy audience. The principal, Miss McDaniel, was the gracious hostess and quietly efficient manager of the exercises.

Every American Planter knows that Burpee's Seeds Grow

BUT—do YOU know why they are the Best Seeds that can be grown for planting in 1911? Our address is W. ATLEE BURPEE & CO., Burpee Buildings, Philadelphia. Send us your address, and we shall mail, without cost, a copy of THE LEADING AMERICAN SEED CATALOG FOR 1911, a bright New Book of 174 pages that tells The Plain Truth About THE BURPEE-QUALITY SEEDS.

Who Was There That You Knew?

IN the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or death or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken?—Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographers in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $50,000; they were buried in the War Department for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan tried to secure the collection—Ex-President Garfield and General Benjamin F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with the help of the Review of Reviews, the entire collection has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs. It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—for the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War you never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.

READ IT "DUTIFUL ROOSTER"

Recipient of Weedon Grossmith's Poetic Compliment Could Not Make Out His Fancy Writing.

Weedon Grossmith, at a dinner in New York, praised America. "And I like American art," he said, "the art of your magazines and newspapers and novels and pictures. It's a direct art. It can't be misunderstood."

"Directness, plainness, is always best. I now write a direct, plain hand, but I used to write a confused one, all flourishes and curls, and as a result I often got in trouble."

"For example, a friend of mine sent me, by way of Christmas card, a photograph of his wife and five beautiful children. I wrote to the wife in acknowledgment of this charming picture. I told her poetically that she looked like a beautiful rose tree—she being the tree, you know, and her children the roses."

"But my wretched, confused hand spoiled everything, and the next day my friend demanded indignantly over the telephone:

"Grossmith what the deuce do you mean by writing to my wife and telling her she looks like a 'dutiful rooster?'"

MAKE THE SERMONS BETTER

Dr. Charles F. Aked Points His Lesson to Preachers With a Story About Gladstone.

"The preacher who complains of poor or inattentive congregations," said Dr. Charles F. Aked, in a recent address in New York, "would perhaps do better to devote to the improvement of his sermons the time spent on these complaints."

"This type of preacher generally belongs to the Cannes class which Mrs. Gladstone naively condemned. 'Mrs. Gladstone and her famous husband went to Cannes one January, and on Sunday morning, of course, they repaired to the English church.'

"But when the sermon began Mr. Gladstone frowned and squirmed, then whispered to Mrs. Gladstone, fretfully:

"I can't hear him."

"But Mrs. Gladstone, whose ears were better, said to her husband with a reassuring smile:

"Never mind, dear. Go to sleep. It will do you ever so much more good."

UP-TO-DATE ADVERTISING.

This is an extract from the diary of the little heroine in Kate Trible Sharber's story, "The Annals of Ann," which proves the sharpness of youthful observation: "No matter how fine a doctor a lady's husband is she is never permitted to mention it to her friends, for this is called 'unethical.' But if she's expecting company of an afternoon she can happen to have a bottle with a queer thing inside on the mantelpiece, and when the company asks what on earth the thing is she can say, 'For goodness' sake! My husband must have forgotten that. Why, that's Senator Hinck's appendix!'"

WIVES OF SCIENTIFIC MEN.

Mme. Curie, who is probably the leader among women who have discovered things, became interested in chemistry through work with her husband and with him made the discovery of radium. Lady Huggins, wife of Sir William Huggins, the noted astronomer, is her husband's sole assistant in his observatory. Mrs. Walter Maunder is vice-president of the British Astronomical observatory and has written some books. The wife of Professor Roberts has also helped him in his work.

ARCHITECTURAL.

When Woodrow Wilson was making his campaign for the governorship of New Jersey, he was asked to speak at the dedication of a new building in Jersey City. In the course of his remarks, he had something to say about architecture. "These modern New York hotels," he declared, "remind me, in their architectural style, of a cross between the early Pullman and the late North German Lloyd periods."—Sunday Magazine.

FITTING TRAIT.

"Young Biffins' infatuation for pretty Miss Gladys is merely puppy love."

"I suppose that accounts for his doglike devotion."

MAKING GOOD

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good"; and Dr. Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards. A good, honest square-deal medicine of known composition is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is as good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for. Don't buy

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special ailments.

It makes weak women strong, sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago.

As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nerveine it is unequalled. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy.

Dumb Chills and Fever.

Douglasville, Tex.—"Five years ago I was caught in the rain at the wrong time," writes Mrs. Edna Rutherford, of Douglasville, "and from that time was taken with dumb chills and fevers, and suffered more than I can tell. I tried everything that I thought would help, and had four different doctors, but got no relief, so I began to take Cardui. Now I feel better than in many months." Cardui does one thing, and does it well. That's the secret of its 50 years of success. As a tonic there is nothing in the drug store like it. As a remedy for women's ills, it has no equal. Try it. Price $1.00.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

(New York Press)

The cleverest trick a girl has is how often she can be kissed for the first time.

It's so natural for women to raise children that a few of them want to raise Cain instead.

It's awful foolish to find fault with the cook when she can get even by putting too much pepper in the soup.

All that seems to be needed for a man to get absorbed in a thing is for it not to amount to much of anything.

A man never knows much until he is old, and then he is too discreet to talk about it.

What a lot of good you might have done in the world if you hadn't made up your mind to begin tomorrow.

REMARKABLE OFFER BY EVANSVILLE'S BEST PAPER

The Courier Will Have a Ten Day Bargain Offer Soon.

The attention of our readers is invited to the display ad mentioning the Big Bargain Offer of the Evansville Courier, which appears in this issue. The Courier, which is the largest and most important paper in Indiana outside of Indianapolis, will make a remarkably low rate for a period of ten days, commencing February 20th and ending February 28th. This rate of $1.25 for a year's subscription to the daily edition is exactly one-half the regular price. Before February 20th, no one can secure a yearly subscription at less than $2.50. After February 28th, the rate of $2.50 will again prevail. However in the intervening ten days, $1.25 will cover a subscription for 312 issues.

It is the desire of the Courier publishers to add five thousand new subscribers to the already heavy lists. The Bargain Offer has been employed recently by enterprising publishers to produce quick results. No renewal orders are accepted at the cut rate, unless subscriptions expire in February.

To secure the remarkably low offer—all that is required is to make a remittance of $1.25 any day between February 20th and 28th. The remittance should be made by check, or express or postal money order. Subscriptions at this rate will be received from Christian and Hopkins counties, Kentucky, only.

Prospective subscribers should bear in mind that The Courier is the only English newspaper published in Evansville that can be secured by mail on the same day it is printed. The predated editions of other newspapers are published in the afternoons of the previous day, and their news and market reports are always sixteen hours late.

Occasionally a man gets a hard fall from the bluff he puts up.

A born leader likes to associate with people who are born followers.

The girl who marries for money may deserve a divorce without alimony.

HER SMALL BROTHER

The small brother is a very important factor, for good or evil, to the young man who is engaged in making love to the small boy's grown-up sister.

Some small brothers are worse than a hundred Egyptian plagues distilled down into one, while some other small brothers are born matchmakers, and thoroughly enjoy helping along the fun of courtship.

The small brother frequently elects to entertain the anxious suitor while Mamie Marie gets ready to come down. Getting ready to come down is, with the majority of girls, a herculean undertaking, and consumes a great deal of time and thought, and draws seriously upon the brain power of the young woman who desires to make a good impression on her waiting young man.

The anxious suitor may consider himself in luck if the star of his life gets her hair into the requisite state of fluffiness, and her ribbons and bows into the regulation state of stylishness in half an hour; and he must possess his soul in patience if she keeps him waiting a full hour before she comes down.

But if there is a small brother to entertain him, the time will pass quickly, and he will learn more of the true inwardness of his love's family in that short hour than he would learn in a lifetime of ordinary calling acquaintance.

The small brother comes sidling into the parlor and looks askance at the nervous young man, who is holding his hat on his knees, and has the general appearance of being ready to jump out of his chair in a minute's warning. The small brother is either chewing molasses candy, or gum, as the condition of his supplies may be—for a boy is a great deal more at home when his mouth is full.

The expectant suitor is anxious to propitiate him, because he is her brother, and he addresses him with that idea.

"Hello, Jimmy? Fine morning for skating, isn't it?"

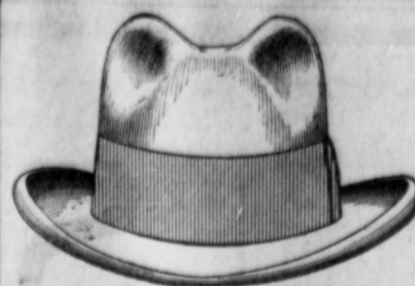

"Naw. It's too sloppy. Say! you don't skate much, I guess. Girls said you couldn't keep on your feet, and was afraid ter strike out. Said you looked like a grasshopper on ice. Huh! Them's new shoes, ain't they? Ain't big enough, be they? I'll bet yer feet ache. Guess Mamie'll smell new leather when she comes down. Say! did you come ter see Mamie or Gussle? Ma said she'd bet you'd git all you'd bargained fer if you took Mamie. Pa he said fer her ter hush up. Say! don't you want ter chew my gum while I eat this apple? I don't want it ter git cold, 'cause it gits brittle sooner. Mamie said if I'd keep out of the room tonight she'd give me lots of maple sugar when Tom Fletcher brings her some. Tom, he's awfully sweet on Mamie. Say! what cher do that Mamie don't want me ter see? You're courtin' her, ain't ye? Mamie she's got some powdery white stuff that she puts on her face ter hide the freckles, and you'll git some of it on yer coat collar if you don't watch out. John Perkey he got some on his, and Mamie she brushed it off. I see her. I was hid behind the winder curtains. She told him she guessed he'd been leaning up against something. I guess he had, too.

"Ma says she dunno whether Mamie likes Tom Fletcher or John Perkey best. Tom's got an awful long nose, but he's got the most money; but John's freest with chocolate and ice cream. My Uncle Dick says you're a dogdasted dude! He says your collar looks like the sides of a wheelbarrow. Does it saw your ears? When I'm a man I'm agoin' to have a tall collar, so's to see how it feels to be sawed. Don't you smell burned hair? I do. Mamie's crimpin' hern, and she's scorched her curls. That's 'cause she's hurrying. She spanked me awful that day I hid under the sofa, and you told her that folderol stuff about her being the sum of your existence, and the queen rose in your—in your—flower bed. I told Gussle and George Latimer of it, and Mamie heard me. My! wasn't she hopping? George he said you was always a softy. Was you?"

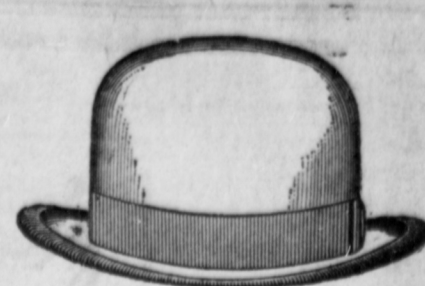

"Hark! that's Mamie coming. Ain't she been awful quick? I'll make myself scarce. Say! hadn't you just as lief as not that I should stay jest outside, and see what she does when she sees you? Tom Fletcher he give me five cents ter find out if you kissed her and, and I'm saving up half a dollar ter put into the box ma's church is sending ter the Philippine islands ter help the Filipinos. And courtin's awful entertaining, anyway. Most as tickling as the monkeys and the clowns in the circus."

And as the small brother slips out of the door, the young lady sister glides in at the other, and lifts her shy eyes to her young gentleman's face, and lays her slim fingers in his palm, and says how sorry she was to be obliged to keep him waiting so long, but she had just commenced a letter which must go that very evening, and she thought he wouldn't mind being alone just a few moments.

Much Larger Circulation.
"She's very wealthy?"
"Very."
"Money left to her?"
"No; she is the author of a book entitled 'Hints to Beautiful Women.'"
"I presume all the beautiful women in the country purchased it?"
"No; but all the plain women did!"

Henderson Waking Up.

Henderson ought to have a baseball team this year if the league can be organized. There is no good reason it should not have one. The population is large enough and the people are wealthy enough.

In this matter the same argument holds good that is advanced in favor of supporting a good playhouse in the winter season. More than half the population is interested in baseball. The national game is becoming more popular every day in progressive towns and cities because it is a clean sport and full of excitement.

The average person needs a little excitement occasionally to make him forget the cares of everyday life. Mental distraction is absolutely necessary and the best way to keep Henderson money in Henderson is to give the public the things it wants: for hundreds of persons will go to Evansville in summer if they cannot find good amusements at home.

The business people of the city ought to realize that they have a selfish interest in encouraging good sports.

Famine In China.

The Seattle, Wash., Commercial Club has undertaken to raise funds for the relief of those who are starving in China. More than a million people are starving in China at this time and the appeal is being made for aid. The Club says:

Contributions of any amount will be acceptable and will help in a humanitarian work of the very first importance. They should be made to the order of the Seattle Commercial Club, Seattle, Washington, and those contributing may rest assured that their gifts will be used in the most effective and economical way.

Central Wins.

Danville, Ky., Feb. 17.—Central University's basketball machine grabbed a half of Southern championship honors by tearing a sensational 40 to 38 victory from the hitherto invincible Columbus, Ga., Y. M. C. A. team.

About 700 people saw the greatest game ever played in Kentucky.

Women, by a recent by-law, are prohibited from traveling in the Moscow cars unless their hatpins have protected points.

ON ANNUAL RAMPAGE.

Lumber is Afloat and Farming Lands Flooded.

Clarksville, Tenn., Feb. 16.—Much damage is now resulting from the high waters of the Cumberland River. A stage of about forty feet was registered on the Clarksville gauge Monday, and lumber stored on the banks for shipment is afloat at many points in this section. A rise of a few more feet will cause much of this material to drift out in the current and be lost. The sawmill men and dealers who own it are busy with plans to care for it in event of a further rise.

Thousands of acres of the farming lands in this section are under water, and the loss is occurring on account of the cattle being driven back from the bottom pastures and canebrakes.

The value of the output of meats from the seventeen establishments in Queensland during 1909 was over $10,000,000.

Compulsory domestic service is advocated in Germany.
